

The Dr. Nathaniel and Fanie Soroff Prize

The Dr. Nathaniel and Fanie Soroff prize has been established in their memory through the generosity of their son, Dr. Harry Soroff. The prize recognizes “outstanding contributions in physics”.

Dr. Harry Soroff's son, Daniel, was an undergraduate physics major and it was primarily through this experience that he became an active supporter of the Department of Physics and Astronomy's academic program.